Hello Russell,

Thank you and the team for the information provided thus far- I have no doubt it was a full day+ worth of work.

As for distribution list, I think this suffices now- I will share on the command call and if we have more detailed piece to offer at some point this week, it can expand.

Trish

Good evening DC Ferguson,

I'm not sure who you would like included on the daily update for your review before sharing with the rest of the Exec. Please advise on how you would like me to proceed for the rest of the week.

In addition to the information from the team below, a couple of points that I would like to add.

- The information flow is very fluid and difficult to verify at this point in the planning
- Staffing will initially be focused on redeployment of Traffic Services, NRT and platoon members on Reserve Staffing. (we are holding PDC and ESU in reserve at this point)
- PLT is critical at this juncture. We intend to integrate members full time with the OPP PLT who have already initiated relationships with Convoy Leaders. This relationship building will be key in mitigating issues and de-escalating issues when they arrive.

Patience and understanding will be critical from all internal parties to managing this highly fluid situation.

Russell

Good afternoon Inspector and Staff. Attached are the updates for today:

- 10:00 meeting with internal departments, ie: Traffic, NRT, Intersect, Special Events, Command Centre and Corporate Comms: briefed on situation and planning
- 11:00 external meeting with OPP Intel: Intersect, OPP jurisdictions, as well as Ontario city policing partners, RCMP: information sporadic, hard to tell correct numbers on attendance, however garnering a lot of support and raising over 3.5 million on go fund me page. Different groups now getting on board such as the farmers and right wing extremists calling for major disruptions. This is being monitored by our OPP Intel team, RCMP analysts and PPS analysts.
- OPP have made contact with some organizers and have created some rapport with them, as well Isabelle has reached out to the Ottawa organizer, Chris Lamarche received some information from a person who attended 474 Elgin street and wanted to provide info in regards to convoy. Cst. Lamarche will be in contact with that person.
- No one knows the end result of this convoy and what they are planning once they get in town. So many different groups now involved.
- Intersect, Corporate Comms, Command Centre checking social media
- PLT have been requested and activated to assist Special Events in reaching out to the different organizers so that we can communicate one core message to the protesters
- NRT community team downtown were requested to notify and reach out to the local establishments and surrounding businesses
- We are hoping to have better numbers tomorrow as convoys start rolling out of their jurisdictions and making their way into Ottawa.

More updates to follow tomorrow's activities.

Thanks and have a great night,

Cheers,

Louis
